

At Home with the Makers of Style

A revealing look at the intimate living spaces of key contemporary designers. What should home look like today? Here we discover how influential designers work, relax, and are inspired by their personal and professional surroundings. And there are plenty of surprises, from Harry Allens converted mortuary in Manhattan to the Bouroullec brothers carpenters workshop in a Parisian suburb. This diverse group of designers from America, Brazil, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands, Spain, and the UK are among those who lead and shape our every design decision, from the chairs we sit on to the hotel rooms we sleep in. The philosophies of the featured designers are revealed through the pertinent question-and-answer section: they share their ideas on design, personal space, inspirations, work methods, and how we live now and may be living in the future. With special photography by Grant Scott, this book provides a unique opportunity for all those professionally involved in or just passionate about design to discover what the worlds leading shapers of taste choose for themselves in creating their own homes. 218 color illustrations. Featuring work by Alberto Alessi, Harry Allen, Azumis, Yves Behar, The Bouroullec Brothers, Boym, Piero Busnelli, The Campana Brothers, Matali Crasset, Robin Day, Droog, Gitta Gschwendtner, Marti Guixe, Sam Hecht, Matthew Hilton, Joseph Holtzman, Enzo Mari, David Mellor, Jay Osgerby, Dieter Rams, Karim Rashid, Jerszy Seymour, Ali Tayar, Terence Woodgate.
