

Stepping Outside of My Marriage (BW/WM Erotic Romance)

Tamera stands at the altar with a decision to make. As she looks to the crowd and sees the happy faces, she then looks to her husband and realizes this is a business decision, and not one made with passion. Kyle was a good guy, he had a great job, but she didn't light a fire in Cameron. One of his groomsmen, however, was everything that Tamera wanted in a man sexually. They almost hooked up in college and kept that secret from Kyle for years. With one foot in and at the brink of making a lifetime decision, will Tamera have one last fling with Kyle to explore what could have been, or what still can be?

EXCERPT: The look in his eyes told her that he had his fair share of celebratory champagne, and was looking a bit stressed. Her heart raced, because she could tell by the look in his face that Cameron was going to speak an honesty that she wasn't ready to deal with. Especially after giving herself a pep talk to ease the guilt. Are you happy? were the simple, yet complex words that came from Cameron's lips. They hung in the air, permanently there, until Tamera addressed them. The question was simple, but the answer was complex. She was happy in the way that a parent is happy their child grows up to move across the world to become one of the premiere business people in the world. But are you happy that you actually have to live a life of not speaking to or seeing them every day? Of course not. Tamera was happy in the traditional sense, but she felt it with her brain and not her heart. There was nothing passionate about it. As she looked into Cameron's eyes, she felt fire that was tangible. He burned for her, and the way that her heart sped up, she knew that she wanted him also. Yes, Tamera responded sheepishly, literally not knowing what else to say. Cameron scooted toward her in the limo and placed his nose inches from her face. She smelled his cologne and the sweetness of his breath, and wanted to feel his skin all over hers. Prove it, he said.
