

Three Scottish lighthouses (blue sheep photo books Book 4)

A photo book. Kinnaird Head lighthouse is situated on a headland projecting into the North Sea, within the town of Fraserburgh, Aberdeenshire on the east coast of Scotland. It started life as a castle in 1570, but was converted to a lighthouse in 1787. It now forms part of the Museum of Scottish Lighthouses. Rattray Head lighthouse is located around 8 miles to the south of Fraserburgh. It was built in 1895 and is surrounded by dunes often over 20 metres (75 feet) high. It has been unmanned and fully automatic since 1982. It can be reached over a causeway by foot at low tide. Buchan Ness lighthouse, built in 1819, stands on the most north easterly point on mainland Scotland, in Boddam, just south of Peterhead. For many years, the area was a major centre for trading and whaling ships. Its distinctive red and white stripes make the lighthouse a local landmark.
