

Child Sized Mixes & More!

For years, folks have come to me with requests for recipes their child could use in place of the expensive mixes sold in stores for child size ovens. I decided to take this one step further, and develop a collection of recipes for not only personal use, but to use as gifts for children. Often, our children would like to give gifts to their friends, and this is one low-cost, as well as educational, alternative to store-bought gifts! When children cook, they work on several skills which enhance their education- measuring is mathematics, cooking is science, cooking is art, shopping for ingredients can be mathematics as well as basic life skills. To wrap or decorate a gift, requires children to cut, tape, glue, write- all activities which work on fine motor skills.....The recipes in this collection may be baked in a full size oven, at 350 degrees F., if your child (or gift recipient) does not have a child size oven. Please remember, any time electricity or heat is used in ANY recipe, adult supervision (and possibly assistance) is an important safety measure to prevent injuries and keep children safe.
