Not illustrated.1772 Excerpt: ... two young Stone-Horses, which I kept in a good Stable, and next to them the Groom is my greatest Favourite; for I feel my Spirits revived by the Smell he contracteth in the Stable. My Horses understand me tolerably well; I converse with them at least four Hours every Day. They are Strangers to Bridle or Saddle; they live in great Amity with me, and Friendship to each other. CHAP. XII. The Author s Veracity. His Dejign in publishing this Work. His Censure of those Travellers who swerve from the Truth. The Author cleareth himself from any snifter Ends in writing. An Objection answered. The Method of planting Colonies. Hjs native Country commended The Right of the Crown to those Countries described by the Author is justified. The Difficulty. of conquering them. The Author taketh his last Leave of the Reader; propofeth his Manner of Living for the future; giveth good Advice, and concludeth. THUS, gentle Reader, I have given thee a faithful History of my Travels for sixteen Years, and above seven Months; wherein I have not been so studious of Ornament as of Truth. I could, perhaps, like others, have astonished thee with strange improbable Tales, but-but I rather chose to relate plain Matter of Fact n the simplest Manner and Style; because my principal Design was to inform, and not to amuse thee. It is easy for us who travel into remote Countries, which are seldom visited by Englishmen, or other Europeans, to form Descriptions of wonderful Animals both at Sea and Land. Whereas, a Travellers chief Aim should be, to make Men wiser and better, and to improve their.Minds by the bad, as well as good Example of what they deliver concerning foreign Places. I Could heartily wish a Law were enacted, that every Traveller, before he were permitted to publish his Voyages, S...
